

to make sure that they do not contain any bias feature in favor of the man at the expense of the woman; third, adoption of specific mechanisms that contribute to highlighting the actual role of the woman, her bright image and status in the community, through the contents of the textbooks, photographs and drawings; fourth, conducting similar studies that explore the image of the woman in other courses and grades different from those of the study sample.

References:

- Al-Hamamsi, M. (2003). Image of the Egyptian Woman in 1990s Cinema: Too little Positivity, Too Much Negativity. Al-Bayan, 398, 138–142.
- Al-Hothali, H. (2011). Image of the Woman in the Ancient English Language, Which Were Developed to the Female Intermediate Educational Stage in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. Modern Education League Magazine, 4 (9), 162–214.
- Al-Kharoof, A., & Qamash, F. (2005). Role of the Educational Level in Increasing the Woman Participation in the Family Decision-Taking: Field Study in the City of Sanaa (Yemen). Dirasat (32), 2, 383–400.
- Al-Khasawneh, I. (2016). Image of the Woman in the Jordan TV Commercials. Dirasat, Humanities and Social Sciences, (43), 467–487.
- Al-Khoza'i, H. (2006). The Jordanian Woman and Challenges of her Origin in the Parliament: Field Sociological Study of the Women Candidates for Elections. Social Sciences Magazine 34(2), 129–167.
- Al-Naji, H., & Al-Refa'ie, T. (2011). Image of the Woman in the Arabic Language and Social Studies Textbooks of the Elementary and Secondary Stages in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. Damascus University Journal, 27(1+2), 405–443.
- Al-Naqshabandi, B. (2003). Principles of Citizenship: Theoretical Introduction to Gender Study: Case of the Jordanian Woman. Dirasat, 3(2), 374–383.
- Al-Sarabi, S. (2010). Image of the Woman in the Jordanian Textbooks. Damascus University Journal, 26(1+2), 463–496.
- Al-Tamimi, E., & Khawaldeh, N. (2011). Issues of the Woman in the Islamic Education Textbooks of the Higher Basic Stage in Jordan. Dirasat, Educational Science, Appendix 3, 827–851.
- Brunner, B. (2006). Where are the women? a content analysis of introductory public relation textbooks. Public Relations Quarterly. 51(3), 43–47.
- Clark, R., Ayton, K., Frechette, N., & Kellre, P. (2004). Women of the word, re-write women in American women history high school textbooks from the 1960s, 1980s. Social Education. 69(1), 41–49.
- Halawani, F. (2005). The Woman in the Novel of Qamar Al-Keelani. Damascus University Journal, 21(1+2), 41–74.
- Low, T., & Sherrard, P. (1999). Portrayal of women in sexuality and marring and family

- textbooks: a content analysis of photographs from the 1970s to the 1990s. Sex Roles, 40(3/4), 309–318.
- Mazile, B. (1998). The portrayal of women in social studies and history textbooks used in Botswana. Unpublished Doctoral Dissertation, The University of Cincinnati.
- Mitias, M. (2008). Ethics of Care (Translated). National Council for Culture, Arts and Literature. Kuwait.
- Naser, H. (2013). Physical Image of the Woman in the Textbook, between the Inherited and the Desired. Al Qairawan Literature 9(10), 451–464.
- Oday, H. (2002). Issues of the Contemporary Arab Woman. Arab Future, 375. 133–145.
- Otoom, K.(2014). The image of women in the Arabic language textbook for the primary second grade in Jordan. Europe Scientific Journal, 10(7). 283–294.
- Polonsky, M., & Ford, T. (2001). Are feminist more critical of the portrayal of women in Australian beer advertisements than non- feminists? Journal of Marketing communication. 7, 245–256.
- Qadiri, R., & Ofooneh, S. (2015). Image of the Woman in the Palestinian Curricula: Content Analysis of the Eighth Grade Textbooks. An-Najah National University Journal for Research (Humanities), (29) 5, 865–894.
- Schoeman, S. (2009). The representation of women in a sample of post- 1994 south African school history textbooks. South African Journal of Education, 2(4). 541–556.
- Taha, M. (2004). Reality of the Woman between Civilization and Religion. Education, 149, 206–219.
- Tietz, W. (2007). Women and men in accounting textbooks: exploring the hidden curriculum. Issues in Accounting Education. 22(3), 459–480.
- United Nations Development Program. (2006). Report of the Arab Humanitarian Development for 2006: Toward the Rise of the Woman in the Arab World. National Printing Press, Amman-Jordan.
- Williams, F., & Bennett, L. (2016). The Progressive Era: How American History Textbooks' Visuals Represent Women. Social Studies Research and Practice, 11(1).124–135.
- Woyshner, C., & Schocker, J. (2015). Cultural parallax content analysis: image of black women in high school history textbooks. Theory and Research in Social Education, 43(4), 441–468.