Drama Education in Pre-Service Education for Primary School Teachers

Abstract

The authors deal with the research focused on the verification of school drama education in the pre-service education for primary school teachers. The research project period covered the years 1998-2003, as part of the research project of the above organisation with the title “New Opportunities in Teacher, Educator and Pupil Education for the Learning Society of the 21st century” (msm174500001 – with Assistant Professor Hana Lukášová as the Head Project Researcher). The project results can be split into the following areas:

- a) Verification of the drama education methods in the study subject titled Basics in professional practice
- b) The development of dialogue skills in drama games (role playing) and improvisations of students studying the drama education subject.

Key words: drama education, pre-service teacher education, personality-based and social competence, skills, a dialogue, drama games (role playing) and improvisations, action research.
