

Dana Dobrovska
Czech Republic

Experience of Technical Students with E-educational Media

Abstract

Using electronic educational media is a matter of obligation in contemporary higher education. Less attention is given to a systematic quality assessment of e-learning and blended learning. Results from a survey on students' opinions on possible implementation of electronic educational media in a bachelor technical teacher programme are presented in the paper.

Key words: opinions of students, electronic educational media, technical teacher education